

SOUTH DAKOTA STATE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Coffee at Cottonwood

SDSU Extension and the SDSU Cottonwood Field Station are excited to introduce Coffee and Cottonwood, a new educational series designed to bring livestock producers, land managers, industry professionals, and researchers together for practical conversations about livestock and rangeland management.

Offered every two months, Coffee and Cottonwood will provide an informal opportunity to learn about current research, emerging technologies, and management strategies relevant to livestock production in western South Dakota and the Great Plains.

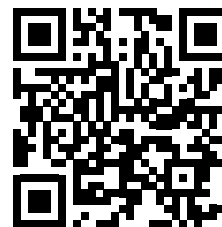

Join us!

November 6th, 2026
Hands-On Virtual Fencing

January 22nd, 2027
Digital Record Keeping & Electronic Identification

March 5th, 2027
The other AI: Artificial Intelligence in Agriculture

Every other month at the SDSU Cottonwood Field Station for coffee, conversation, and practical information you can take back to your operation.

<https://extension.sdstate.edu/events>

Contact Information

Jameson Brennan | Assistant Professor & SDSU Extension Livestock Grazing Specialist
jameson.brennan@sdstate.edu | (605) 394-2236